LESSONS LEARNED

It was good to be back in the pulpit Sunday morning. These last few weeks have reminded me of a few things. First, it reminded me that we can make all kinds of plans and they can be changed in the blink of an eye. James tells us, "Now listen, you who say, 'Today or tomorrow we will go to this or that city, spend a year there, carry on business and make money.' Why, you do not even know what will happen tomorrow." How true that is! One minute I'm enjoying playing with the grandkids and the next I'm in the back of an ambulance on the road to reconstructive knee surgery. Things that at one time were so important no longer have the same urgency. We always must be letting God lead our lives no matter what challenges arise.

I have also been reminded of how vulnerable we all are. We may think we are strong, healthy and independent. But in reality, we are all vulnerable to weakness and tragedy. That is why the verse we looked at a few weeks ago suddenly took on an even more personal meaning for me. Remember? "God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear, though the earth give way and the mountains fall into the heart of the sea." How great it is to feel the ever-present help from our Almighty refuge and strength.

And I have been made acutely more aware of the blessing of a loving church family. Kenia has been wonderful. Suddenly thrust into the role of care giver she has been a rock. But it is also quite the encouragement I have received from my church family. Cards, texts, posts, calls, visits, food and much more. There are many reasons God chose to create the church and the local church family. We are not called to face the difficulties of life alone. Whether it be spiritual, emotional or even physical, we have each other to lean on in difficult times. I want to again thank all those who have offered their encouragement during this time of difficulty.

May God continue to strengthen all of us as we work together to serve Him and reach others with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

- Tim
