"Bind Us Together With Love"

We sometimes sing a song that says, "Bind us together with cords that cannot be broken. Bind us together with love". I have often wondered what "love" the song writer was talking about? Is it the love we have for one another? Jesus, and then the writers of the New Testament, make it clear that loving one another is an essential aspect of our Christian walk. Jesus said loving one another was a new command. He also said that our love for each other would be how the world would know we are His disciples. Over and over again Paul and others commanded us to love each other. So certainly, this love for one another is part of what binds us together.

However, could the song writer be talking about God's love for us? Is it the love that God has lavished on us that binds us together? Absolutely. Surely, when each of us truly understands the love God has for each of us, we will be drawn closer to one another. John explains this when he tells us that God loved us first and our love for Him is demonstrated by our love for each other.

So which is it that the song writer was thinking about? Then the words hit me. "Bind us together with cords that cannot be broken." Cords, plural. Maybe the song writer envisioned my question and answered it. It's both. God's love for us and our love for each other are cords that bind us together and cannot be broken.

- Tim
