“Let Us Hold Unswervingly”

“Therefore, brothers, since we have confidence to enter the Most Holy Place by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way opened for us through the curtain, that is his body, and since we have a great high priest over the house of God, let us draw near to God with a sincere heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled to cleanse us from a guilty conscience and having our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold unswervingly to the hope we profess, for he who promised is faithful. And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds. Let us not give up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another—and all the more as you see the Day approaching.”

This past Sunday, we looked at the second of the five “let us” statements found in Hebrews 10:10-25. “Let us hold unswervingly to the hope we profess, for he who promised is faithful.” The writer is encouraging his readers and us to hold on tight to the hope we have. Living the Christian life is not always easy. There are times of doubt. Times of tragedy. Times of sorrow. Times of confusion. Times of persecution. Times of temptation.

In these difficult times, what do we hold on to? The answer is, “hope”. What a great word. What a great encouragement to have hope. What a tragedy when there is no hope. As Christians, we hold on to the hope we have in Christ. The writer has already told us that our hope is the anchor for our soul (6:19). Peter tells us to always be ready to share our hope (1 Peter 3:15). And Paul says that we are saved by hope (Romans 8:24). And we know that Paul also listed hope among the “big three” that remain (1 Corinthians 13:13).

But hope is only as good as what that hope is based on. And our writer tells us that our hope is assured, “because he who promised is faithful”! Our hope is not based in our own goodness. It is not based in our own righteousness. It is not based in our own strength. No, our hope is based in God’s faithfulness. And God is never unfaithful when it comes to keeping His promises. He has promised us a home with Him in a place free from all that threatens to destroy our hope.

Norman used to say that there were those who would destroy our hope, but leave us nothing in return. How true that is. But we know better. We have hope. And our hope is secure in God’s faithfulness. And because of that hope, we will hold on unswervingly.

We are thankful for the meal preparation and serve and clean up crews that have been doing such a great job in this time of fellowship. We are thankful the Lord allowed us to make eight visits, twelve phone calls, and write fifty-seven cards. We are thankful for the forty-four who were in attendance and let their lights shine in different ways in this ministry. The Lord to be praised and glorified.
