"Second Chances"

Several years ago I was at the district track meet. And witnessed a sad event. The girls were getting ready for the 4x100 meter relay: the exchanges were ready, the timers and runners were ready and the stands were filled with anticipation. The starter yelled, "Runners to your marks!" The girls running the first leg slipped into their starting blocks; their concentration was evident. "Set!" barked the starter and then ... the gun sounded. But just as quickly, a second fired. All who understood the meaning of the second gun held their breaths: someone had false started, leaving before the gun. Slowly, one of the girls picked up her blocks and walked to the side of the track. Because she had false started, her team was disqualified. No second chances. No "do-overs". No "mulligan". No "I didn't mean to". For them the race was over. Slowly I saw the other three members of her team leave the track as the news reached them. How sad. All that hard work, all those hours of practice, all that expectation dashed in one over-anxious moment.

Praise be to God for second chances! Abraham got a second chance. David got a second chance. Jonah got a second chance. Peter got a second chance. And more importantly to me, I get a second chance. We all get second chances. We have the choice as to what we will do with those second chances. We can ignore them. We can squander them. We can be bitter and refuse them. Or, we can make the most of them. God calls us to second chances. He waves us back onto the track and says, "Give it another try. This time you'll get it right." Isn't that exactly what he did the woman caught in adultery? He has more confidence in us than we do in ourselves many times. He had enough confidence that He sent His Son to die for us. He knows we'll stumble. He knows we'll fall. He knows we'll, "jump the gun". But He has confidence we'll let Him pick us up, dust us off and send us back on our way.

Let us be resolved to make our second chances count!

P.S. God even makes allowances for third, fourthetc. chances!

- Tim

PRAYING FOR THE SICK

Please pray for Jerry Rosewell as he has a serious infection in his shoulder. He will have surgery on October 1. After the surgery 8 weeks of IV antibiotics and then surgery again after the infection has cleared. Please pray for his father, Jerry Rosewell, who is suffering with cancer. Please continue to pray for Emma Martin. Cynthia Gibbs did have her neck brace removed on Friday. She still has some problems that are being addressed. Greg Gant continues to recuperate at home from a diabetic wound. He is improving. Maxie Laney has been released by his heart doctor. Prayers answered. Please keep Becky Fountain in your prayers as she is very serious with cancer. She is a teacher for South Elementary.
